First woman head of research council tapped

Maria Chiara Carrozza named CNR president

(ANSA) - ROME, APR 12 - The government on Monday tapped the first ever woman president of the National Research Council (CNR). Maria Chiara Carrozza will be in charge of the prestigious institute for the next four years.

She was appointed by Education, University and Research Minister Maria Cristina Messa.

Carrozza replaces Massimo Inguscio whose term is up. (ANSA).